Seek More Data On 'Suicides'

NEW YORK--The "immediate intervention" of the United States Secretary of State for information about the "alleged" suicides in jail of two Presbyterian leaders in Mozambique, has been requested by William P. Thompson, Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church.

Thompson, who is also president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches (Presbyterian and Congregational), wrote Secretary William Rogers that his "urgent attention to this matter is critical," because many other church members in the Portuguese colony are detained without trial or judgment and their legitimate rights have been suppressed.

The United Presbyterian Church and the World Alliance of Reformed Churches are "profoundly concerned with the humanitarian interests and issues which affect the lives of the Black majorities in the area known as Southern Africa," he said.

He revealed that "we learned with great dismay on December 12, 1972, of the alleged 'suicide' of the Reverend Zedequias Manganhela on the night of December 10-11, 1972, in Machava prison."

Manganhela, of the Presbyterian Church in Mozambique, was arrested on June 13, 1972, along with 30 other members of his denomination, including the vice president of the Synodal Council. At least seven of the arrested men were between the ages of 60 and 75.

On December 19, 1972, the office of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches in Geneva was informed of the death of Jose Sedumo, aged 60, member of the church council in Manjacaze, and one of those arrested on June 13. According to the police, Sedumo had taken his own life on July 21. The place of his burial had not been revealed and his family was not informed of his death until mid-December, Thompson said.

The chairman of the UN Commission on Human Rights has been notified of the two "suicides" by the World Alliance, Thompson wrote, but the interrogation "of other prisoners is continuing in an apparently intensified form."

The World Alliance had "publicly expressed disquiet about the imprisonment of these leaders to the Portuguese Ambassador in Berne" as early as July 3, 1972. The international church federation has now urged the Portuguese Prime Minister, Dr. Marcello Caetano, to order an independent investigation of the two deaths and to publish the results, said Thompson.

Aetna's President Likes Federal Bill On Auto Insurance

HARTFORD--Frederick D. Watkins, president of Aetna Insurance Company and one of the earliest insurance industry executives to advocate no-fault automobile insurance, has reiterated his support for "federal guidlines."

Speaking at a conferment exercise for chartered property casualty underwriters, Watkins said that, "with a handful of notable exceptions, state legislatures have made little or no progress toward passage of genuine no-fault laws."

He added that "federal guidelines were the only way that millions of citizens in this country could get fair and equitable protection against auto accident losses."

Watkins noted that of the five states with authentic no-fault laws, "four of them fall far short of standards recommended by the United States Department of Transportation."

He pointed out that "if we fail to have minimum standards for all states, we will end up with 50 widely varying statutes...It makes little sense to replace one absolete reparations system with a complicated hodge-podge filled with new inequities."

Watkins concluded by saying no-fault insurance is needed now and called for urging the general public to demand action from Congress.

"We cannot," he warned, "leave this job to lawyer-dominated state legislatures."

Seaside Ripples

CLINT C. PORTER, Asst. Publisher

People are beginning to ask me about myself: Where I came from; what did I do before becoming connected with the newspaper; what brought me to Seaside; And why do I stay?

There once was a Man much greater than I, and I just wonder if they have tried to find out where He came from, except that he was born in a manger and hung out with a bunch of real smart dudes as a child. But how did he grow up? Who taught Him the things he knew? Who gave him His direction?

Henry J. Kaiser gave me my inspirational turn. I never met the man. But I admired him because of his philosophy. He said: "Find a hole and fill it!" Maybe he was thinking of a different type of hole, but a hole is a hole. I found people. I found people who were just one big hole after another. So I decided to try and fill it. I knew I had the love and compassion it might take. I knew I had the patience. I also knew I had the guts and endeavor to pursue the "filling of the hole." I gambled that I would have more time.

Routinely one day, about ten years ago, I went to Dr. Rich in Oakland to have my eyeglasses changed. The good doctor there decided to check my eyes. Nothing prompted him o do this except he had time to kill. After the extended examination he began asking me some questions. Double vision? No Sir. Black outs? No Sir. Headaches? No Sir. Burning eyes? Sometimes Sir. Do you constantly rub your eyes? Yes Sir. Any history of eye disease in your family? Yes Sir, my mother has gloucoma.

He handed me an envolope with a note in it and asked me to take it to Dr. Belfour on "Pill Hill" in Oakland. (It is called Pill Hill because there are several hospitals, pharmacies, nurses' quarters, etc., all centrally located.)

Dr. Belfour examined my eyes (extensively) and told me that I too had gloucoma, but not to

He Accuses

NEW YORK--Black mortgage banker Dempsey J. Travis, president of the United Mortgage Bankers of America, Inc., charged that the President's freeze on housing subsidies could revive the inner-city pressures that led to the riots of the 1960s.

he said that the cut-off of housing subsidies would prove a boom to absentee ghetto slumlards who would make big profits from old housing while it lasted, then clear out the deteriorated buildings and rebuild the cities with housing whose cost would make it "For Whites Only."

GOOD WORK - Miss Marietta Talosig of Castroville, secretary-stenographer at Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command on Fort Ord, receives Department of Army commendation for her outstanding performance of duty in office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Presenting award is Colonel Worthington Mahone. New Kinds Of Headlights Could Decrease Nighttime Accidents

LOS ANGELES--Use of high beams--under most driving conditions--may distress motorists because of the glare but the better visibility they provide could result in fewer nighttime accidents.

This is one of the findings of a study conducted by the Southwest Research Institute of San Antonio, Texas, which said the probable cause of most nighttime accidents is failure of headlights to light up the road well enough.

The study said that glare from motor vehicle headlights at night has a much greater psychological effect on drivers than the physiological or actual visual effect.

One solution, the research institute said, may lie in a new headlighting system being considered by the government--a "mid-beam" or "turnpike" system whereby the left-hand, normally high beam is aimed to the right and slightly down rather than straight ahead.

In addition, both high and low beams would be increased in intensity.

Under this system, a pedestrian would be visible, with opposing traffic, at 430 feet on low beam, 470 feet on midbeam and 520 feet on high beam.

If there was no opposing traffic, the pedestrian would be visible at 580 feet on low beam, 840 feet on midbeam and 990 feet on high beam.

The study, which was reported by Roger H. Hemion of the research institute, was financed by the United States Department of Transportation.

Hemion said he had never yet seen a report which "stated that an accident occurred because the headlights didn't illuminate the road well enough for the driver to avoid an obstacle or see where he was going. That is, however, the probable cause of most nighttime accidents--inadequate visibility."

Hemion was speaking to a science writers seminar on opthamology, sponsored by Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., a national research foundation in New York City.

Hemion said that "under most conditions of driving, even on two-lane rural roads, two drivers meeting each other can see farther down the roadway ahead if they both use high beams than if they use low beams, despite the much less comfortable glare level of the high beams.

Another survey reported at the seminar said that at 17 locations around the county, three out of four motorists did not use high beams when they can and should.

Experimental Safety Vehicle Has Knee-Bars

PLEASANTON--Furnished by Volkswagen-Porsche-Audi distributor Reynold C. Johnson, a cut-away drawing of the ESVW--Volkswagen's Experimental Safety Vehicle--shows how driver and passengers are protected by a passive belt restraint system.

Triggered by a special sensing device at the moment of collision, gas-powered pistons simultaneously take up the slack in the shoulder belts and pull knee belts tightly around occupants' knees, holding them securely in their seats.

Impact speeds below 15 mph do not trigger the preloaded restraint system, occupants being protected instead by the slack shoulder belts and padded knee bars.

No action is required by the occupants to adjust or connect the belts, this being done automatically when the engine is started.

'Black Creation' Selects 10 Most Important Films Of Past 10-Year

NEW YORK--Two films directed by Gordon Parks, "The Learning Tree" and "Shaft," have been selected by "Black Creation, The Quarterly Review of Black Arts and Letters" as among the 10 most important Black-oriented motion pictures released between 1962 and 1972.

Also included are "Nothing But A Man," "The Dutchman," "In the Heat of the Night," "Uptight," "King: From Montgomery to Memphis," "Sweet Sweetback's Badasssss Song," "Sounder" and "Black Girl."

The films, chosen from 84 diverse features, were judged on "their combined existing or potential impact on the Black community and the movie industry," not exclusively on their artistic qualities.

CONTENTS

The film selections represent part of an extensive 16-page special section in the current "Winter 1973" issue highlighting "The Expanding World of Black Film."

The unprecedented effort by one of the first magazines to publish an extended interview with filmmaker Melvin Van Peebles includes six individual articles dealing with the past and current depiction of Blacks in films, as well as a projection about "the biggest single and uniquely controversial phenomenon to hit Hollywood in the past 10 years."

Other features include listings of major Black directors, producers, screenwriters, movie scorers, production companies and distributors.

There are also lists of Black Academy Award nominees between 1939 and 1971 and a breakdown of Black films released during the past five years, listed by studio or distributor.

AMBITIOUS

"After reading what's been written about the so-called Black movie boom over the past year in some 16 publications," says editor-in-chief Fred Beaufor, "we feel that our effort goes well beyond the single article approach, providing original and documentative information, as well as a provocative and insightful analysis of this widely covered topic. "The Expanding World of the Black Felm" easily represents the most ambitious achievement in our three years of publication."

PRIME MOVER

The film special was developed by managing editor James P. Murray, recently promoted from the position of film editor. Also film critic for the New York Amsterdam News and author of the Forthcomong Bobbs-Merrill book on Black filmmaking, "To Find An Image," Murray says material submited by five contributors was gleaned from more than 50 recent interviews conducted in Hollywood and New York, as well as supplementary research obtained during some 15 months prior to publication.

Use That Seat Belt --Or Else!

WASHINGTON--The automobile accident death rate in Australia has been cut dramatically by making use of seat belts compulsory, according to D.C. Anderassend, chief engineer of road safety in the Australian state of Victoria.

Andreassend said injuries as well as deaths have been reduced greatly since the law was passed, with a big decline in serious eye injuries and skull fractures.

Authorities estimate that seat-belt use in Australia has increased from about 25 percent two years ago to 75 percent or more today.

No state in the United States now has laws making the use of seat belts compulsory.

A spokesman for the National Safety Council said that even if air-bags are installed in all new cars, it will be the mid-1980s before they are available in most cars in the United States.

"By 1988 perhaps another 600,000 lives would be lost, Yet at the present time," the spokesman said, "motorists have safety devices which are every bit as effective as the air cushion--lap and shoulder belts."

Automotive safety experts point out that publicity about seat belts has not had much effect on most of the nation's drivers. The United States Department of Transportation estimates that only about 25 percent of drivers use belts and that this percentage is even lower for around-town driving. An estimated 4 percent of drivers use shoulder belts.

"Buckle up your seat belt--or risk a fine" is the choice recommended by safety experts to drivers who hope that every state in the United States will soon pass legislation to make use of seat belts mandatory.

No state now has such a law, but several have begun to debate possible legislation. One bill introduced in the Georgia legislature calls for issuing a warning on the first offense and a fine between $2 and $10 for the second offense.

Georgia's public safety commissioner, Colonel Ray Pope, said enforcement of such a bill would be difficult, but "lack of total enforcement is not excuse for not having the law. We are not doing a very good job of enforcing the speed laws, but who would suggest they be revoked?"

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everyone.

There's a lot to be said for learning a business from the ground up. Many executives today point to their steady, step-by-step ascent of the corporate ladder as the primary factor in their success. Probably the surest way for a young man or woman to begin his or her study of a particular business or industry is to involve himself or herself in the records of goods ordered and sold.

Most establishments arrange their records with a definite order in mind to prevent the inevitable loss of time and money that results when needed information can't be located. This has created many opportunities for young men and women who want to learn the business from the ground up, who want to begin as a file clerk. The Department of Labor reports that there were almost 200,000 men and women employed as file clerks in the United States. Beginning clerks earns around $100 a week, but many young men and women interested in this field are seeking opportunities in TODAY's ARMY where the pay is nearly the same and the benefits are quite a bit better.

TODAY'S ARMY is currently training hundreds of similar young men and women at the US Army Quartermaster School at Fort Lee in Virginia. Unit Supply Specialists in TODAY'S ARMY are responsible for ordering, receiving, storing, preserving and then issuing supplies and equipment. They are also expected to periodically review status reports of all unit issues. At Fort Lee they attend the Unit and Organizational Supply Specialists and Armoers course.

Unit Supply Specialists make about the same money as their colleagues in civilian jobs but they don't have to spend it on food or lodging and opportunities for travel is included. Enlistees start at $307.20 a month. In addition to the free room and board, they receive complete medical and dental care and 30 paid vacations days annually. Also after they complete their advance training and arrive at the installation they selected, they receive a raise in pay.

Congratulations to Staff Sergeant William Zink Jr. for receiving the Army Commendation Medal for meritorius service during the period of October 1966 to August 1972 while serving with the United States Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command at Fort Ord, Ca. SSG. Zink is presently serving at Fort Lewis, WA.

Sight Standards Are Relaxed

Students applying for admission to the California Maritime Academy will no longer be required to meet the tough standards for visual acuity which have been in effect for a number of years.

The United States Coast Guard, the agency which licenses academy graduates as merchant marine officers, has announced a substantial lowering of vision requirements. Effective April 4, the standard for students entering the nautical science program is a minimum of 20/100 in each eye, correctable to at least 20/20 in one eye and 20/40 in the other. For students entering the marine engineering program the standard will be a minimum of 20/100 in each eye, correctable to at least 20/30 in one eye and 20/50 in the other.

These relaxed standards will apply to students currently seeking admission for the academic year which begins the August, 1973, and should enable many more young men and women to qualify physically for admission to the Vallejo school.

Because of this last-minute change in standards, the academy has extended the deadline for applications for the entering class to Students interested in applying under the new standards are encouraged to contact the Admissions Office, California Maritime Academy, P.O. Box 1392, Vallejo, Ca 94590, as soon as possible.

Home Safe Home
PG&E service tips for home safety.

Do's
■ Have your gas appliances thoroughly checked once a year by your appliance or furnace man or plumber. While he's there ask him to make sure safety pilots are operating properly, air openings on burners are clean and set for a blue flame.
■ Check for rusted or loose-fitting vent and flue pipes and have them replaced. If you ever should smell a gas leak, call PG&E immediately.
■ Make sure that burners and controls on your gas furnace, wall or floor heater are clean at all times. And be sure to clean or replace dirty furnace filters periodically.
■ When you disconnect appliances, always pull the plug from the outlet first. Also make sure electric tools are properly grounded, and frayed or broken electric cords are replaced.

Don'ts
■ Don't place furniture or drapes over or close to any heater, or let gas accumulate before lighting a gas pilot. Be sure that range burners and heating elements are off completely when not in use.
■ Never overload one outlet or circuit by connecting too many appliances to it. And never let youngsters tamper with electric cords or outlets.
■ Finally, don't ever hesitate to call a PG&E service man to check out any gas leak or gas service problem. And while he's there, ask him to show you where your gas pilots are located and how to go about relighting them. If repairs or parts are needed, call an appliance or furnace service man or your plumber.

Museum Has African Art Exhibits

The exhibition of African Sculptures to be shown in the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art during April will be sponsored and installed by Monterey Peninsula College. It includes over thirty pieces of sculpture, masks, ceremonial objects, utensils and artifacts from Liberia, the Ivory Coast, the Congo, Sierra Leone, The Mali Republic, Nigeria, Ghana and the Upper Volta.

In the Main Gallery and on the Balcony will also be Egyptian Folk tapestries. Designed and handwoven by children in Egypt, the tapestries are from two different workships. Those on the Balcony were done at the Atelier Ramses Wissa-Wasset in Harrania and are much publicized but rarely seen. The children weave freely without drawings or cartoons and even dye the local handspun wool to obtain the colors needed. Tapestries in the Main gallery, the "Kelim" tapestries, are also handwoven by children. Although they are done for a commercial market they still have a naive quality which is very appealing. Not as well known as the "Harrania" tapestries, they are more directly related to the textile craft tradition which extends back nearly 2000 years to the early Coptic Christians of the first centuries A.D.

The "Harranias" have been exhibited widely throughout Europe in major shows, in 1972 the "Kelims" have been shown in California and Cairo. They have been used as the principal wall hangings in the Nile Hilton Hotel. The exhibitions will run through April 27th for the tapestries and April 29th for the African Sculpture.

The Museum is at 559 Pacific St., Monterey. Hours are: Tuesday through Friday 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday 1 p.m. - 4 p.m.

Scout-O-Rama Scheduled

The Boy Scouts of America Xcout-O—Rama will be held on Saturday, May 19, from 12 noon until 6 p.m. at the Monterey County Fairgrounds Home Economics Building.

The theme of this year's Scout-O-Rama will be "America's Manpower Begins With Boy Power." Participants will include boy scouts, cub scouts, sea scouts and explorers.

The purpose of the Scout-O-Rama is to allow scouts to display talents and ingenuity in booths at the fair grounds; to allow scouts to raise funds for camping and to give individual scouts a chance to win prizes.

A raffle will be held at the event. Grand prize will be a PSA Airline Tour for two to Southern California. The winner will visit Knott's Berry Farm, the Movieland Wax Museum, Japanese Village - Deer Park and Movie World Cars of Stars and Planes of Fame. Tickets for the raffle are being sold by scouts throughout the peninsula.

The cost of safety goes up if you try to get along without it.

Motorists Must Be Aware Of Bicyclists' Rights

"Although the majority of bicycle versus automobile collisions are the fault of the cyclist, the driver cannot be relieved of the responsibility to observe the rights of bike riders," California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said today.

Commissioner Pudinski emphasized that the California Vehicle Code extends the same rights to bicyclists as it does drivers, "but even more important is the necessity to be alert for the mistakes of youngsters, particularly those 14 and under who often are unaware of their legal responsibilities. Defensive driving could eliminate many mishaps if drivers maintained more careful vigilance for the violations of this age group--such as a child darting unexpectedly from a driveway.

"Drivers often squeeze bicyclists when passing because they fail to allow nexessary room," the commissioner pointed out. "Another common driving error is pinning a bicyclist to the curb when making a right turn.

"Bicycles are harder to see because their silhouette is smaller. Drivers should be particularly cautious in residential areas where bike use is more frequent. At night motorists should also watch for the bicycle lights and reflectors which can help drivers spot hard-to-see bicycle riders.

"The California Highway Patrol's bicycle enforcement program is expanding along with the increasing popularity of the bicycling sport. Last November the CHP began a program of "citing" young riders 14 and under to educate them about the hazards of bicycling. The citations trigger letters to their patents advising the parent of the violation and seeking their assistance in alerting the youngster to the danger of improper riding.

"Along with increased bicycle sales comes increased use of roadways," commented Commissioner Pudinski. "The duty of the motorist is to remain alert, exercise common sense and be on the look-out for bicycle riders in extraordinary situations."

CHP Will Give Gas To Needy

California Highway Patrol cars operating on a newly-opened stretch of Interstate 40 in San Bernardino County will be equipped with gasoline transfer pumps to provide fuel for motorists who run out of gas.

Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said this "freeway emergency service is being made available because the new freeway alignment created a temporary 100-mile segment between Ludlow and Needles without service stations or similar roadside facilities."

Patrol vehicles operating out of the Barstow Area office and the Needles resident post will be outfitted with the special pumps this month. The pumps are designed to transfer gasoline directly from the Patrol vehicle tank.

The service is a cooperative program test with Standard Oil of California, which will reimburse the State for gasoline provided to disabled vehicles. Motorists will be advised of Standard Oil's participation by a card presented to them at the time they are assisted.

Commissioner Pudinski said Patrol vehicles also carry emergency water supplies, "which has been standard procdure in desert areas for some time."

Construction of raodside facilities along the new freeway segment was impossible until completion of the freeway itself. Commercial services at two locations--Kelbaker Road and Mountain Springs--are expected to be in operation within six months to a year, cutting the maximum distance between off-road services to approximately 35 miles.

Provision of gasoline is a "pilot program designed to increase our service potential on isolated roadways," the Commissioner said. "In some instances we will continue to transport motorists to service stations, but the distances involved usually will dictate the transfer of fuel, saving time for both the motorist and the officer."

Speedway Now Open

Sophomore Johhny Harper of Monterey, young lion Johnny Brazil Jr. of Watsonville, and defending California early model stock car king John Van Hooser dominated the action April 6 at Watsonville Speedway as the track launched its 14th auto racing campaign.

The program was witnessed by the largest opening-night audience in the history of Watsonville Speedway--2,524 paid admissions--and they saw a spectacular sportsman heat race accident which sent one man to Watsonville Community Hospital. Sherm Hackbarth, 37, of Merced, was treated and released after suffering abrasions when apparently struck by a race car which careened over the pitwall and into the pit area.

Spectators at first believed Harckbarth, a pitman for race driver Tom Barbour of Merced has been injured seriously---but a spokesman at the hospital denied this, noting that Hackbarth was treated for abrasions.

Harper, beginning his second season in the fleet sportsman division after a lengthy grooming period in the early model stock car class, flashed to an impressive triumph in the sportsman feature race.

A father-son team took second and thrid. The drivers were Keith Brown of Pittsburg (runner-up) and his father, 1972 California second place finisher Bill Brown, also of Pittsburg (third place).

Rounding out the top five were Al Balding of Seaside--commonly referred to as "Scalding" after that tag was applied to him last year by popular track photographer Chuck Caldwell---and Ray Campbell of Turlock.

Atwater's Vern Willhoite, the 1972 California sportsman champion, won the trophy dash and captured sixth place in the main event.

Sportsman heat race winners were Chuck Ferguson (Capitola), Barbour, Campbell, and Ron Cooper (Salinas). The semi-main went to Barbour, last season's number three man in the final California standings.

Brazil was the man of the hour in two of the stock car skirmishes, winning both the oval track trophy dash and the "figure-eight" kingpin in 1970 and 1971, was runner-up to Brazil Friday evening.

Van Hooser displayed the form which carried him to the top of the state stock car oval track standings last season as he maneuvered to victory in a 20-lap feature.

Cyclists Are Warned Of 15-Times-Greater Danger

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y.--Chances of being injured or killed may be as much as 15 times greater on a motorcycle than in a car but the engineering staff of Consumers Union believes these odds can be narrowed by using available safety equipment and shopping wisely for the right vehicle.

Even more important is defensive riding, they say, which means "always expecting the worst" from other drivers.

The consumer publication "Consumer Reports" recommends a motorcycle with an engine of about 250 cc as able to keep up with most traffic but not too heavy to push or too hard to maneuver at low speeds.

The article emphasizes the importance of wheel size, saying: "Generally we found that the larger the wheels and tires the more stable the machine and the less likely it was to upset or be knocked off course severely by road irregularities."

Readers are warned to be wary of motorcycles with dangerously protruding parts and accessories, one of which is a fuel tank with a filler cap hinged to open upward and forward.

"In test crashes," the article says, "such caps tended to flip open in a crash, inflicting serious groin injuries on the instrumented dummy rider."

Fiberglass tanks are reported to have a greater tendency to rupture in an accident and spill gasoline on the rider and hot engine.

Prospective purchasers are advised to take a road test to check noise and vibration levels because these factors--if excessive--tend to tire riders prematurely and dull their senses.

Electric starters are recommended because "they could get you going faster than could a kick-starter" if the engine should stall in traffic.

No Sudden Moves on Freeways

The wisest automobile safety expert I know has a rule for freeway driving; don't do anything suddenly.

An unexpected change of lanes, slowing down, or burst of speed on your part may startle another driver. Panic reactions are dangerous.

A driver may lose control of his car if he is frightened into a sudden move.

The excellent signs on freeways provide the driver with plenty of warning of what is ahead. There is no excuse for suddenly cutting across lanes to get to an exit ramp or for jamming on the brakes when one realizes he is in the wrong lane for an exit.

You should always make your intentions known in plenty of time before you make a move. Use those turn signals and keep them flashing until you have completed the lane change.

Do not slow down too rapidly when getting off the freeway. Traffic may jam up behind you.

The driver who sees traffic ahead slowing down should pump his brake pedal several times to warn following drivers.

Don't drive too fast or too slow. The safest speed is that of the normal flow of traffic.

But most important — no sudden moves.

Wildflower Show Is This Weekend

The museum's 12th Annual Wildflower Show will be held Easter weekend at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. The dates are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 20, 21, and 22. Hours are from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day. The exhibition will include over 500 freshly picked species and varieties of Monterey County wildflowers.

This annual show has proven to be one of the very popular events of the season with over 2000 visitors normally attending from all parts of California.

The exhibition will include the very common flowers such as California poppies, baby blue eyes, shooting stars and buttercups, as well as some of the very rare flora of Calif nia such as Serpentine itillary, Hickman's Or on and Brewer's Willow. The rare species are collected from areas of local abundance so that the species will not be endangered. Only a few collectors perform the task of gathering the flowers thereby eliminating the possibility of duplication.

The museum will be closed on Thursday, April 19th prior to the show's opening.

worry because it was detected in its early stage. So smilingly he prescribed for me PILOCARPINE 2 percent. I was to drop one drop in each eye morning and night. Come back in 60 days.

He sent me a bill that almost choked the gloucoma out of my eyes. Two months later I visited him. Same prescription - same bill. Now at that time he told me that there was no cure for this eye disease, and all he was doing was keeping it at it's present level. Instead of seeing a disease in my eyes all I could see was dollar signs for the rest of my life.

My occupation carried me to Los Angeles. New doctor. New prescription: PILOCARPINE 4 percent. Eighteen months later found me in Hong Kong. Wow, what a trip. The doctor and I had a communication problem. You see I ran out of drops. After two weeks some were flown to me. But that is a long time. Incidently they had increased my drops to four times per day, back in Los Angeles.

Now I could run the entire sequence down to you, but that would be boring to you (unless you had gloucoma). Still you can probably see it gets worse and worse. Regardless of what the doctor tells you at first. I am now on PILOCARPINE 4 percent four times per day (that is maximum), and on EPINEPHRINE morning and night and ACETAZOLAMIDE 250MG four times per day. This is the absolute maximum medication known to date. But still the pressure remains uncontrolable. There is only one other thing: Operation. Impossible, expensive and time-consuming!

Why did I tell you that' "Find a hole and fill it." In other words: "Do all the good you can -- in all the ways can can -- to everybody you can."

I would earnestly suggest that all of you (all of you), should consult your occulist, have a routine pressure test on your eyes, and be sure. Incidently my mother, last week, had her right eye operated on. She can't see out of it (couldn't before the operation), but it stopped the terrible headaches.

OPENING NIGHT

Last Friday night the Salinas Municipal Stadium was packed to rafters. It was the opening home game for the new Salinas Packers. They beat the Modesto Reds 7 - 4. The Packers are really a California Angel farmclub. But it is the first time in eight years Salinas has had its own ball club. And the fans are just wild about it.

We all know what keeps a ball club in top shape: Ego. So if the stadium stays packed the players will just "have" to put on their best suit.

Last Friday night was also the crowning of the Miss Marina for 1973. I said to many people that I would try not mention my feelings about the outcome of that "contest." I'll simply say this: There were 14 girls entered. 13 of them were still in High School or Junior High. The age limit was ridiculous, something like 13 to 17, (or 18). Have you ever been 13 years old? (In an evening gown?) Bashful, awkward, forgetful, beautiful but scared to death. Most of them were like that. So they did not win. The winner was an experienced "lady." Last year's Miss Filipino Scout, several other awards plus an extended trip to Manila and parts surrounding. She had made several public appearances and had undoubtedly been tutored on meeting the public. Those poor 13 and 14 year old girls did not have a chance and they knew it.

Most disappointing was that no photographer was there to put the event on record permanently for the families who invested in gowns so their daughters could look their best.

Something was wrong. But my time has run out. Maybe next week I shall have more nerve. Andy says hello. Mrs. Barragan's mother is lots better. My mother is home from the hospital. My daughter's mother is now in the hospital. She had to have an operation too.

Lord: "Find the hole and fill it."

Your Supervisor Reports

The rumors concerning the closing of Fort Ord have caused many people to become quite concerned. I don't blame them. The closing of Fort Ord would mean economic disaster to the entire Peninsula. Congressman Talcott has assured the public that Fort Ord will play an important role in the new Voluntary Army and will not be closed. Congressman Talcott could not assure us that there would be no reductions in training and staffing at Fort Ord.

When any administration in Washington talks of "cutting the budget" the military is first on the list for "economizing." However, I note the suggested military budget this year is up, not down.

Unless we are very fortunate, I believe there will be reductions and cutbacks at Fort Ord reflecting our withdrawal from Viet Nam and new priorities as required by the all Volunteer Army. Whatever these cutbacks may be, the army cannot ignore the impact on our local citizens and economy. I am writing to Congressman Talcott and our U.S. Senators Alan Cranston and John Tunney and to Secretary of Defense Elliot Richardson requesting that if there is to be a reduction at any military installation in our area that no plan be implemented without first consulting with local officials on how to achieve the reduction with a minimum of impact on our economy. If you are also concerned, I would appreciate your writing letters to our representatives in Washington.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford, Executive Director

The Coastal Committee for Proposition 20 will be meeting at the Seaside City Hall on Monday, April 23, at 1 p.m. to discuss the Laguna Grande Project and to determine if Seaside will get a permit to go ahead with the K-Mart Shopping Center.

There has been much discussion about K-Mart and the Redevelopment in Seaside, so it might be worth the time to take off from work and attend this important meeting. A field trip to see the area is planned for the Committee Members.

The Chamber of Commerce hosted the Honorable Judge Eugene Harrah at their General Membership Meeting at City Hall on April 5. He gave an interesting talk on Small Claims Courts. It was news to me to learn that the maximum amount of money allowed at a Small Claims Court is now up to $500. This is a much less expensive way to go to court.

The Chamber's Military Affairs Committee is busy organizing a Peninsula-wide Military Appreciation Week. Two meetings have been held with representatives from the Marina, Monterey Peninsula and Pacific Grove Chambers of Commerce with good results. They are all interested and willing to help make this special week a big success. Plans are now to perhaps hold an old fashioned picnic. Ray Stepniak of MBS and Sgt. Bill Brown have been doing a great job of organizing.

The Government Affairs Committee is meeting Wednesday mornings (the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays, before the Council meetings on Thursdays). They are divided into local, county and state legislative action committees.

Career Education and the Mini-Seminars at Seaside and Monterey High Schools are going quite well. The Seaside Chamber sets up these seminars for the students and arranges for various business and professional men and women to discuss their careers. This month the Radio and Television Industry gave a seminar at each school. Allen Bell, Program Director from KMST -TV; Frank Coburn, Program Director from KMBY Radio; Jim Chubb, Program Director from MP-TV; and Reza Ghariv, a film producer and director from Iran, each presented their insight and ideas about the communication industry.

The Chamber's Business Development Committee has set up its priorities in this order: (1) The Shopping Center in the Laguna Grande Project, (2) transportation - busing, (3) parking in Seaside, (4) Bringing in new businesses to Seaside.

The Chamber of Commerce is the voice of businessmen and citizens in the community. By joining the Chamber, you can help strengthen your city. For information, call 394-6501.

Easter Services

The Holy Assembly Mission Baptist Church of Seaside will start Easter Sunday morning at 9:30 with an easter program sponsored by the Sunday School Department. After this there will be a stirring message by Pastor Slade at 11 a.m., followed by an old fashion Easter egg hunt.

These events will be held at the Seaside Youth Center located at Hilby and Wheeler in Seaside, where the church is temporarily quartered. The public is cordially invited to attend all events.

Sunrise Services

EASTER SUNRISE services will be held at 6:30 a.m. on the church grounds of Faith Lutheran Church, 1460 Hilby Ave. Seaside. Chaplain (Maj.) Roland Thompson of Fort Ord will be guest speaker.

Sunday School will be held at 9:15 a.m. followed by a 10:45 Festival Service, "The Living Lord" by Pastor Walter J. Vrudney. Coffee and rolls will be served between the services by the Ladies Guild.

Need to Know

next Monday, April 23, 1973, the Central California Coastal Conservation Commission will be holding its scheduled meeting in the City of Seaside Council Chambers. On the Agenda is Seaside's application for exemption (from Proposition 20) of our Gateway and Laguna Grande projects.

This meeting and its results will be of extreme importance to all of Seaside. Our future economic and social programs hinge on our ability to complete both of these projects that have been on-going since 1968. In planning, land acquisition and current improvements to date, on the Laguna Grande Project alone, the City has expended well over $1,000,000! In the event the Central Coastal Conservation Commission were to deny our request for either the exemption or the permit, they should be prepared to reimburse us immediately for all publis monies expended!

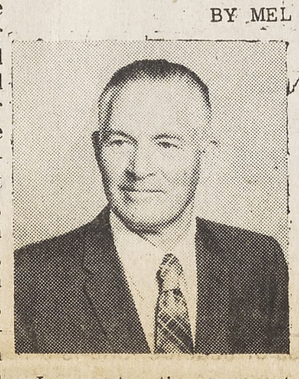
We would urge all concerned citizens to attend to commence our City of Seaside Youth Fund Drive! We have received many calls offering support, recommendations, and suggestions. Following tomorrow evening's regular Council meeting, we should be able to announce an overall plan to achieve our goal to complete David Cutino Park and expand the Youth Center facilities. Several of our City merchants have offered to contribute prizes at cost to be given away following our Independence Day Parade on July 1, '73. This is proof positive that the Brotherhood City of Seaside is pulling and working together.

Water Pollution and Sewage

Another important meeting date is Thursday, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. All the MAYORS of the Peninsula and Salinas, plus County Supervisors, representatives from Marina, Ft. Ord, and Castroville will meet in our Council Chambers to discuss the formation of either an expanded Joint Powers Agency, similar to our present Monterey Peninsula Water Pollution Control Agency, or an alternative such as a County Sewage District.

As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE



Income tax time was not the best of all seasons for President Thieu of South Vietnam to come to America with his message that he would like for us to give his country 700 million dollars a year to keep his regime in business. Contrary to popular opinion there are many American taxpayers who don't simply kiss their income tax money goodbye when they sent it to Washington. They don't consider it free money that grew on trees just because it is thrown into a big vat from which it can be thrown away by the truckload. These citizens remember that they had to work hard for that money, and they read papers.

So, with inflation raising havoc with high prices and high taxes and high wages and high blood pressures, President Thieu might have been more welcome if he had come quietly in the dead of night to visit Mr. Nixon and had then left without anyone knowing he was here. His request for more money was an insult to the American people, at least those who read the papers and are genuinely concerned about America's future more than about the future of a dictatorship as farcicial as that of Mr. Thieu.

To continue support for Thieu would be even more senseless than our involvement in Indochina in the first place. To pretend that he or his immediate regime bears any resemblance to honesty or concern for the rights of his people to self-determination would stretch the point even further. And except for Joseph Alsop and William Hearst, Jr., very few objective observers see much hope of superficial American aid saving Thieu and his job from the communists when the U.S. and several other countries in our employ could not do the job with our air and naval power and a half million men on the ground right at the job site over a period of roughly ten years.

Fortunately, Sec. of Defense Richardson cleared up the question of the Constitutionality of Mr. Nixon's continued bombing of Cambodia. In respect to George Washington and Thomas Jefferson I will not repeat what Richardson said, but I think we should notice that with this continued action there will soon be more planes shot down, there will be more P.O.W.s, and with that of course will come the hue and cry to again widen our involvement so that we will not be leaving these new POWs to the mercy of the communists, and so that those who died during bombing runs will not have died in vain.

In short, the war may be a long way from over, and at the moment, until more American prisoners make the idea distasteful, I will put up even money that American nuclear weapons will be used in a last ditch attempt to dissuade North Vietnam from taking over South Vietnam.

Rafe furnishings and art objects brought from China beginning in 1795 by the Spanish galleons will be shown in the original old-world adobes located in Monterey. Magic Carpet Plans New Show

"A CHILDREN'S HOUR" will be the next trip for the Magic Carpet, Hidden Valley's Theatre for Children. "A Children's Hour" is a very special show. All the stories have been written by young friends of the Magic Carpet. Elementary school students, from Big Sur to Seaside, who have seen the Magic Carpet in their schools have contributed stories, poems, thoughts and situations that they would like to see the Magic Carpet perform. We have some very unusual and exciting material from our young writers, from fiary tales to monster stories, to morality plays. We think you will see alot of your children in these stories and alot of yourselves.

The sound for "A Children's Hour" will also be unusual and experimental. We will use a Putney vas3 sound synthesizer to generate sound effects. Wiht the Putney, it is possible to make very realistic sound effects right in front of the audience. With this space-age musical instrument, we will create sounds to accompany the children's stories ranging from bird calls to airplanes, from wind to dripping water.

Sunday, April 29 is the date for "A Children's Hour". Show times are 2:30 and 4 p.m. at the White Oaks Theatre, Carmel Valley Rd. at Ford Rd. Reservations are suggested. For reservation or information, please call 659-3115.

PTA Dinner Is Planned

Public Schools Week Observed April 23 - 27

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District will observe Public Schools Week April 23 through 27.

Supt. Allan J. Petersdorf urged parents to use the week to visit schools and become acquainted with education programs, teachers and principals.

"Education is a shared responsibility," he said, "and I urge parents to become involved in their children's learning."

Although parents are invited to visit schools during the daytime, each school will be holding an evening open house during the week as well. Most elementary schools will be open Tuesday (April 24) from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Junior high school open house will be held Wednesday (April high schools will hold open house on Thursday (April 26) from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Several schools have announced variations in that schedule. Noche Buena School's open house will be held Thursday (April 26) from 4:30 to 6 p.m. The open house at Olson School will be held Thursday (April 26) from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Del Rey Woods School's open house is scheduled for Thursday (April 26) from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Bay View School's open house will be held from 7 to 8:45 p.m. on Tuesday (April 24) and will include a music program and a book fair.

At La Mesa School, the annual PTA-sponsored Science Fair will be held as part of the open house, with over 200 science projects to be displayed in the multi-purpose room. Larkin School will hold a book fair during their open house. The observance at Del Monte School will include scout displays, a bake sale and election of PTA officers.

Plans at Fitch Juninor High School include a brief Parent-Teacher-Student Association meeting, a dramatic presentation, student art demonstration, fashion show, fancy cake contest, girls' gymnastics demonstration and a band rehearsal.

In connection with the week, children from Crumpton School are displaying art works at the Vehavioral Sciences Institute, 969 Pacific St., Monterey.

Moscone Says Bill Will Save Consumer Money

State Senate Democratic Leader George Moscone recently introduced legislation which would save California consumers an estimated $20-million a year in interest charges.

The bill would give persons who have revolving credit accounts freedom from paying interest charges on the amounts paid during a given month.

"Most revolving credit accounts allow the retailer to charge interest paid on the previous month's unpaid balance," said Senator Moscone.

"This would allow the buyer to escape paying the stiff 18 percent annual interest rate on money that he pays during the month to reduce his balance," the Senator added.

Financial experts have estimated that the cost to the consumer in this country is about $200 million a year in interest costs for amounts actually repaid during the monthly billing cycle.

"The way this sytem works now is to the complete disadvantage of the consumer. If you owed the retailer $100 on March 1st and during March paid $90 of that amount, on April 1st you would be required to pay interest on the $100 amount.

"I think the consumer deserves a better break, especially in view of the very high interest rate on credit buying," concluded Senator Moscone.

See Old Classics At Northridge

"YESTERDAYS MEMORIE TODAY", a collection of nearly 300 reels of vintage and historical films, will be screened at Northridge Center starting Friday, April 27th.

The collection is being offered by Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Maskell of Santa Clara, famed for their historical film collection. Many of the films offered during the three day showing are unavailable through any other source. Presented on a large screen in the enclosed shopping center, a different program of films will be presented at each performance.

Such stars as W. C. Fields, Broncho Billy, Wallace Beery, William S. Hart, Laurel & Hardy, and Harry Langdon plus many more will be performing for youngsters and oldsters alike at this film festival.

Friday, April 27th, films will be shown from 3 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.; Saturday, April 28th, from 12 noon until 5:30 p.m.; and Sunday, April 29th, from 12 noon until 5 p.m.

Seaside Students Help Vietnamese With Contribution

In response to the need for relief and reconstruction aid for destitute refugees and other war victims in Vietnam, the students of Fremont Junior High School in Seaside have sent a generous contribution to CARE, the international aid and development agency.

CARE, operating in South Vietnam since 1954, is vastly explanding its child feeding programs, which now reach 270,000 school children in the Saigon area, into regions inaccessible during the fighting. Also under discussion with Vietnamese Government officials are proposals to establish medical services for the sick and injured, and to help resettle displaced families in new communities or in their former villages that now lie in ruins. Such aid would include repair and construction of houses, schools, and roads, with the people themselves helping to do the building, as well as the provision of work equipment for farmers, fishermen, and artisans in small industries so that they can support themselves and their families.

For information regarding CARE's overseas programming, contact the Regional CARE Office, located at 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Resolution Is First Step In Protecting Big & Little Sur Rivers

The California State Assembly unanimously passed a Resolution by Assemblyman Bob Wood which can be the first step in having the Big Sur and Little Sur Rivers protected in "free flowing and wild status."

The Resolution specifically requests the State Resources Agency and Monterey County to prepare detailed waterway management plans for both rivers in southern Monterey County. Required in these plans will be "provisions for water conservation, recreation, fish and wildlife preservation and enhancement, water quality protection and enhancement, stream flow augmentation, and free flowing and wild status" for the Little Sur and Big Sur Rivers.

If the report indicates that the rivers require special protection as "wild rivers," additional legislation would be required. Wood said he would be prepared at that time to introduce the appropriate new laws needed to make the special classification for the rivers. It is expected that the study may take up to 5 years.

Wood said that he had introduced the proposal at the request of Monterey County Supervisor Willard Branson, who secured support from the Board of Supervisors, and members of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club. They had requested the legislation now so that a thorough study can be made before there is an acute threat of development.

In 1968 the Legislature passed the California Protected Waterways Act to study various rivers throughout the State and determine what "standards, requirements, and administrative and legislative actions would be necessary to extend effective, long-range protection to the extraordinary scenic, fishery, wildlike, or outdoor recreation values of these waterways and adjacent lands." The Wood Resolution sites the Big and Little Sur Rivers as possessing "certain unique qualities and values which should be preserved."

Book Sale Is Planned

The Monterey Bay Wellesley Club will hold its tenth annual BARGAINS IN BOOKS SALE on Friday, April 27 from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Estrada Adobe Building of the Monterey Savings and Loan on Tyler Street between Pearl and Bonifacio in downtown Monterey.

All proceeds from the sale will go to the Barbara Bell Thomson Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Gets Share Of Taxes From State

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has announced the semi-annual apportionment among counties, cities and school districts of $5,467,078 in trailer coach license fees collected during the last six months of 1972.

Monterey County's share was $65,663.88. The largest apportionment was $621,658 to Los Angeles County. The smallest was $160 to Alpine County.

The Vehicle License Fee law provides that the license fees paid on all trailer coaches registered in California be apportioned semi-annually to the counties on the basis of the registered addresses of the vehicles. Apportionments are made as soon as possible after the registration data is made available to the Controller by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Each County Auditor then distributes the total county apportionment among the county, the city (if the address is within a city) and the school districts in which each trailer is situated.

Citizens Form Plans For Early Childhood Education

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's advisory committee for early childhood education has recommended that Patton, Ord Terrace and Hilltop schools participate next fall in the state's new early childhood education plan, with Del Rey Woods School named as an alternate.

The committee, made up of educators and community residents, met for the first time April 10 and elected Dr. Allan J. Gold and Mrs. Sue Hooker as co-chairpersons.

District turstees will act on the committee's recommendations when they meet April 23 at Seaside High School.

Dr. Henry Hutchins, assistant superintendent for elementary education, explained that committee members made their recommendations after looking at primary grade reading test data from each school in the district. Two of the three schools were selected because test scores indicated they had the greatest educational need, he said. The third school was chosen because scores indicated it ahd the least educational need. The state, he said, has suggested that school districts begin early childhood education programs with schools at both ends of the spectrum.

The state's early childhood education program is intended to restructure primary education to make it more effective. The restructuring is to reflect needs and objectives as perceived by local communities. The program is to be phased in over a period of several years, with first-year implementation limited to 12 percent of a district's primary grade enrollment. In the MPISD, the 12 percent limit amounts to approximately 720 sutdents. Dr. Hutchins explained that Del Rey Woods was chosen as an alternate because the combined primary enrollment at the other three schools exceeds 720 students. Del Rey Woods will take the place of one of the other three schools if the state will not allow the district to exceed the 720 student limit, he said.

Between now and April 23, when the school board will consider the committee's recommendations, the advisory group will be reviewing early childhood education plans submitted by local advisory groups at each of the recommended schools, Hutchins said. The district-wide committee has chosen subcommittees to review each school's plans to make sure state requirements will be met.

Heads of these subcommittees, and their areas of responsibility, include: Mrs. William Greenwell, assessment of educational needs; Mrs. Barbara McClair, restructuring of primary grades; Lt. Col. Alfred Glover, assessing defined and measurable program objectives; Mrs. Joanne Tarantino, systematic phase-in plans; Mrs. Cleady Phillips, coordination of resources with objectives; Mrs. Margaret Foster, evaluation of pupil health needs; Mrs. Sue Howell, parental involvement; Mrs. Marisa Wald, parent education; Mrs. Nancy Harray, staff development and in-service training and Mrs. Pat Sloan, program evaluation by the school board and the committee. Remaining to be named is a subcommitte to deal with individualized and diagnostic approaches to learning.

Salinas Fair Offers Free Variety Show

Variety--the spice of life--comes to the Salinas Valley Fair, in King City, on Friday, May 18, in the form of two free variety shows.

Headlinging the 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. performances in the entertainment pavilion will be Mike Caldwell, comedian, magician and master of cermonies.

Caldwell will be announcing Bernie Burns with his harmonica and guitar; Linda Phillips, ventriloquist; the Duane Dancers, and Barry Lloyd and Just Us Three.

Several of the acts also will be performing with Caldwell, again Saturday.

Audiences can't help but notice Big Mike Caldwell when the 250-pounder bounds onto the stage doing a one-hand flip. From then on, it is a series of jokes, stories, juggling feats, magic acts and pratfalls. He even throws in a dance and song or two.

He says he "stole' the flip entrance from another comedian 30 years ago. Mike Caldwell started his hsow business career 30 years ago "because my dad had a firm of CPA's. This scared me into show business."

Caldwell's interest in magic began as a boy after he saw the great Blackstone perform. He bought a one dollar magic kit, and by age 18 was giving magic shows in church.

Within a year, he had been signed by an agent, moved to Chicago and was touring USO shows near the end of World War II.

Safeway's Mrs. Wright's Easy-Scoop Biscuits Recipe

Recipe Compliments of Ladies' Luncheon League

2½ Cups Mrs. Wrights Biscuit Mix
⅓ Cup Lucerne Instant Non-fat Dry Milk
1½ Tablespoons Sugar
¾ Cup of Water

Just mix all the ingredients with a fork in one bowl. The dough will be very wet . . . that's the way it should be. Scoop out the dough with a small ice cream scoop and place the biscuits on a cookie sheet (if you line it with foil you won't have any pan to clean). Grease cookie sheet or foil lightly before placing biscuits on it. This recipe makes 9 to 12 large biscuits depending on the size of the ice cream scoop. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes in a 450 degree oven and serve a happy family.
